Reading: Point of View

We spent some more time discussing how characters in stories feel and what their perspective is. This module will continue to have students look at the different characters and details to determine the point of view.

Writing: Informational

Students started typing their informational paragraphs this week. We will edit and finalize next week. I think we are all ready for this piece to be done.

Math: Triangles & Other Shapes

We have been working on some hands-on activities to help them understand the characteristics of different shapes including sides, angles, and vertices. We will finish unit 4 next week.

Science/Social Studies:

Weather

We have been discussion the water cycle and weather in science. This connects well with the content we will be learning about in ReadyGen.

NOTES

Star of the Week: Congratulations to the most recent student of the week, Oliver. Thank you for being a role model to the class!

February Above & Beyond: Congratulations to Carson for being selected at this month's Above & Beyond recipient for Trustworthiness!

Freckle Math: The school has been piloting a math program. The students seem to enjoy the program and I find it helpful with their skills, so I thought it would be good if they wanted to practice at home. The log-in information is: www.freckle.com. They will log in as students, and the code is: 83TT8M

From The Teacher:

This week flew by- the snow day and late start definitely mixed up the schedule a bit. Students handled it all just fine. We seem to be getting healthier and have been having better attendance as well. Hopefully all the germs are going away. Next week will be another fast one, since we have fun happening. We have an early release, then Battle of the Books, and our field trip to the Outdoor Campus. Please keep students coming to school with the proper attire for the weather. Have a wonderful weekend and keep reading! 😊 Mrs. Anderson

Please feel free to call, send DOJO message, or e-mail me any questions or concerns about your child. Thank you!
